Teaching language

Inglese

Educational And Training Objectives

The goal of the course is to analyze research in social psychology that focuses on the role of the self. In the first part of the class, we will focus on how the individual self affects social perception, attitudes and behavior. In the second part of the class, we will analyze the self as embedded in the social environment, with particular emphasis on the self as a member of social groups.

Pre-requisites

Knowledge of basic processes in social psychology. Excellent English proficiency.

Course content

Individual and social self

Recommended reading

Sedikides, C. Brewer M. (2001). Individual self, relational self, collective self. New York, NY, US: Psychology Press.

Teaching methods

The class will be run as a seminar in which international research on the self will be discussed. Therefore, students are expected to play an active role in the class.

Assessment methods

Type of examination: Written and oral

Teaching tools

Students' presentations are also required..

Notes

The class will jointly taught by Mara Cadinu and Anne Maass.
